ABOUT ME

My main profession is as a lawyer in Vienna. Having worked in a leading Vienna-based law firm for six years, I set up my own office in 2020 where I now focus in particular on compliance and commercial criminal law, cyber criminal law, litigation, commercial and company law as well as data protection legislation. I am also a certified compliance officer and a part-time lecturer at the Ferdinand Porsche Fern-FH university in Wiener Neustadt.

During my time as a law student, I also completed a training course to become a trainer of personal development skills. Since then, I have enjoyed passing on knowledge about and awareness of certain issues – whether as a university lecturer or, in particular, as a trainer in workshops and seminars.

Especially in the area of compliance, I try to combine both aspects – on the one hand, my legal profession and, on the other, my passion for training and passing on knowledge. The support I provide companies and organisations ranges from an initial insight into the issue of compliance to comprehensive implementations of compliance management systems. I am also available to hold tailored training sessions and workshops on compliance and other legal aspects.

My aim is to create awareness that compliance is not just a sign for a company to display but that effective compliance management is important and beneficial not only for the company but also for its management team and employees. Effective compliance management also means doing more than just meeting requirements. In fact, effective compliance management means having corporate values and applying these in the corporate culture.
